The characters on P30 & P31 are pictographs. You can see how the modern character has developed from ancient characters... and how these ancient characters were based on a pictorial representation of an object – usually an object in nature.

Having an understanding of a character's origin can help with memorization.

The characters on these 2 pages are commonly used, either on their own, or as a component of a character.

Most likely your child will have learnt these characters already in Kindergarten, but it's worth checking.

They are really important, so here is a Quizlet link:
